Studio Art

The Fellow will pursue studio practice that would benefit from research on and engagement with CSM's collection and/or archives.

Art History or Criticism

The Fellow will draw sustenance from CSM's collections and archives in order to illuminate the historical and philosophical stakes of Still's art and writings; to bring his work in vibrant conversation with the work of his peers as well as those of subsequent generations; and/or find critical resonance between his work and that of contemporary artists.

Early Childhood Education

The Fellow will engage with projects that would benefit from and contribute to the practices in early childhood education pursued by the Learning and Engagement team at CSM. Proposed projects would advance the development of new possibilities at the intersections of art museums, education, and early learning.

Social Enterprise

The Fellow should thoroughly investigate financial frameworks suitable for nonprofits and social enterprises, such as our own, that support the freedom of innovation. This pursuit was highly valued in Still's philosophy and is essential to the future Clyfford Still Museum's success.
